

OHIO EDISON CO. LINEMAN IS ELECTROCUTED

WALTER HARSH KILLED AS HE TOUCHES WIRE

Tragedy Occurs Mile North Of Unity On Unity-Petersburg Rd.

CREW WORKING ON TRANSFER OF WIRES

Lungmotors Used; 4-Hour Fight to Save Salem Man Fails

Walter S. (Pete) Harsh, 31, Ohio Edison Co. lineman and former widely known Salem high school athlete, was instantly killed shortly before noon yesterday when his hand came in contact with a primary power line, carrying 4,600 volts, on a pole a mile north of Unity on the Unity-Petersburg road.

Harsh and four other members of an Ohio Edison crew in charge of William Heim of Salem, were engaged in transferring primary facilities from an old pole to a new pole.

William Brunk, of Salem R. D., was working on the old pole and Harsh on the new pole. The two poles were barely more than eight inches apart.

Applying Insulation

Harsh was completing preparations for the transfer of the high voltage wires to the new poles when the accident occurred. He was covering one of the 4,600-volt wires with a protective rubber insulation, in order to avoid being hit by the current in event he inadvertently lifted his head and bumped into the wire.

He slumped suddenly against the pole and slid down a few feet, a direct fall being prevented by his safety belt.

Within three minutes, his crew mates had him on the ground applying resuscitation remedies. Fire Chief V. L. Malloy of Salem responded with a lungmotor and another similar device was sent to the scene from East Palestine. Medical aid also was summoned from East Palestine.

The group worked over Harsh until 3 o'clock before admitting failure. Five tanks of oxygen were used.

Little Finger Marked

Harsh was not burned in any way. Ohio Edison Co. representatives found only a tiny spot, not much larger than a pin point, on Harsh's little finger on one hand.

They advanced the theory that Harsh's little finger slid off and touched the wire as he was applying the protective rubber covering.

Harsh went to work for the Ohio Edison Co. in 1928, reading meters. He became a member of the line department in 1937 and had

SOVIET, NAZIS IN DEADLOCK

Only War or Eleventh hour Yielding Will Solve It, Is Claim

(By Associated Press)

Soviet Russia and Nazi Germany were reported today to have reached in their bargaining a deadlock which only bloodshed or an 11th hour yielding could resolve.

In Turkey, whose own uneasy state of martial law has been renewed in her strategic border zones for six months, a military attaché of one of the Axis-signed powers mobilizing alongside the Nazis declared a fighting showdown would come in days—not weeks.

Russian diplomatic sources in Turkey said the Red army was not afraid of a test against the Nazis.

In the battle between former Allies in the Near East, Vichy French forces were reported holding out in age-old Damascus despite heavy shelling by British and Free French siege forces.

Damascus, capital of Syria, it appeared, might be defended to the last street, adding a modern chapter to the blood-stained pages of its 4,000-year-old history.

Mongol Victory Recalled

The most sanguinary episode in Damascus followed the fall of the city in 1401 to the Mongols of Tamerlane who, after exacting tribute, slaughtered most of the population, and pillaged and burned the city.

The Vichy French said they had

Graduates-Elect Honored at Dinner

Salem City Hospital Nurses Alumnae entertained members of the class which will graduate Tuesday from the training school, at the Alumnae association reunion last night at Overlook Inn, near Canfield.

Places were arranged at the table for 21. A flower garden centerpiece with blue and white candles in three-branch candelabra decorated the table. Favors were miniature three-branch candle holders with blue and white candles. The colors used were those of the class.

Graduates were each presented a gift and corsage by the alumnae members. Guests included Mrs. Ed. Tweedale of Canfield, Miss Esther Wilson, hospital superintendent, and Mrs. Margaret Wood, directress of nurses.

Members were present from Louisville, Canfield, Columbiana and Salem.

Later in the evening the alumnae, graduating class members and guests were entertained at a dance given for the graduates at the Salem Golf club by the hospital board. Don Harvey's orchestra featured.

BOMB DISCOVERED AT MILTON BRIDGE

YOUNGSTOWN, June 21.—Federal Bureau of Investigation agents tonight were called in to examine a dynamite bomb, apparently home made, which was discovered yesterday near the bridge across Lake Milton on the Youngstown-Akron road.

Sheriff Ralph E. Elser, who informed the FBI of the find, is maintaining an anti-sabotage patrol at the lake, which controls the flow of the Mahoning River, furnishing water to defense industries here.

The bomb was too small to have done much damage, had it exploded, deputies reported.

Upstreamers Class Holds First Meeting at Winona

The Upstreamers class of the Winona Methodist Sunday school held its first meeting at the home of Jane Stamp on the Winona rd. yesterday.

The following officers were elected: President, Louise Hanna; vice president, Shirley Johnson; secretary-treasurer, Mary Jane Whinnery; assistant secretary, Helen Hoffmaster; news reporter, Mary Walton. Miss Ethel Andre is leader.

The July meeting will be held at Preston park.

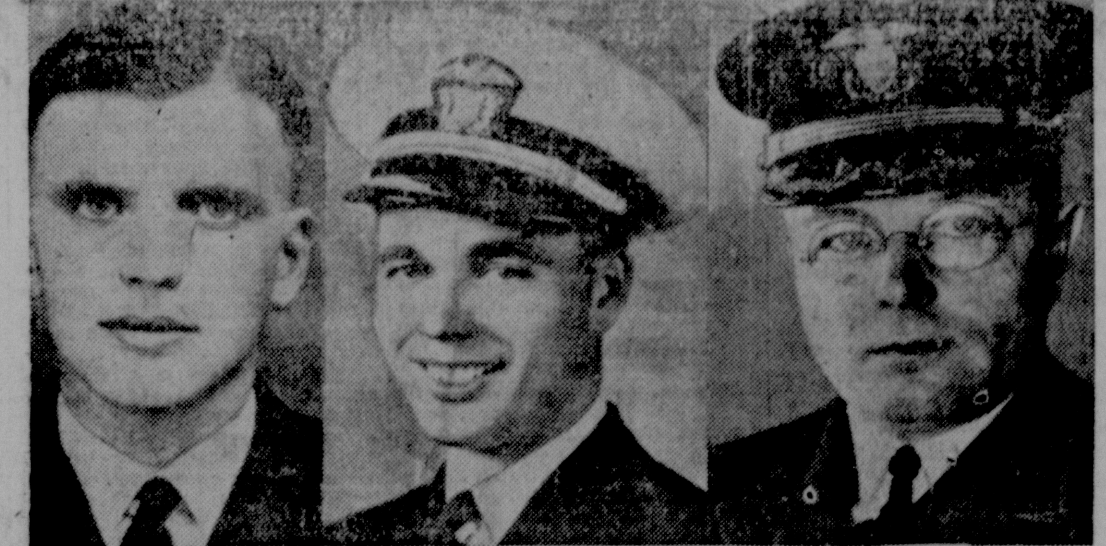

Taken to Mansfield

LISBON, June 21.—Sheriff George Hayes today took Howard L. Gorbey of Rogers to the Mansfield state reformatory where he will begin a one-to-three-year sentence for issuing a fraudulent check.

Gorbey was indicted by the county grand jury and yesterday was sentenced by Judge Joel H. Sharp after entering a plea of guilty.

SEWER MATERIALS ARRIVE IN SALEM

Work Speded Up On South Broadway Project; Necessity of Levy Stressed

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff today announced that the arrival of government supplies has speeded work on the S. Broadway improvement project.

However, work on the project, first link in a chain of improvements planned to alleviate the periodic flooding of the major portion of the city, will take care of only the S. Broadway industrial drainage unless a proposed one-mill levy for sewer funds is approved Aug. 12, Barckhoff said.

About 50 men are now working on the first and second divisions of the project, a concrete-lined drainage channel from S. Broadway under the Pennsylvania railroad tracks to the county ditch, and a sewer line from the channel to the foot of Aetna st.

The third and final division, not yet started, envisions the line extended to Franklin st. and across to Philbert St. where the city's huge Gahanna sewer from E. State st. now drains openly.

The long range plan calls for the drainage of many water soaked areas by connection, through existing mains, to the all-important outlet now being constructed. The whole northeast section of the city, the chronically flooded area near the post office, and the area behind the waterworks are among the regions to be drained under the plan.

Approves New Rates

COLUMBUS, June 21.—The state utilities commission has given its approval to intrastate long distance rate reductions proposed by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co. The cuts, estimated to save subscribers about $345,000 yearly, apply chiefly to person-to-person calls. They become effective July 10.

LETTER CARRIERS HOLD DINNER HERE

A dinner-meeting of the Rural Letter Carriers' association of Columbiana county was held last night at the Christian church here with wives as guests of the members.

Mrs. George Huston's division of church ladies served the dinner to 55 persons.

The following program was presented: Welcome, E. F. Naragon; readings, Janet, James and Floyd Warrington; music, Lela Naragon, trumpet, Russell Graber, trombone, and Mrs. Carl Graber, piano; remarks, M. J. Buell, Archie Markley of Carrollton, H. R. Ellis of Massillon; song, Priscilla Berry; music, Frank Yingling.

Plans were discussed for a picnic in August, the place to be announced later.

MALLOY TO ATTEND CHIEFS' MEETING

Fire Chief and Mrs. Vincent L. Malloy will leave Monday morning for Lancaster where he will attend the 24th annual convention of the Ohio Fire Chiefs' association.

Malloy, who will be gone three days, will attend lectures and demonstrations on sabotage, national fire defense, new equipment and material, and other related fields.

The Salem chief, who retired last year as president of the association, has not been absent from a convention for 19 years. During his term as president he was a representative of the smallest city ever to have its fire chief head the statewide organization and today wears a watch presented by the group in appreciation of his service.

Leaps from Newell Bridge

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 21.—After paying a nickel toll and remarking that "That's the last nickel you'll ever get from me," a man identified by police as Galley Woolley, 62, a pottery worker, yesterday jumped 60 feet from the East Liverpool-Newell (W. Va.) Bridge into the Ohio River. The body was not recovered.

LEVY CERTIFIED TO BALLOT BOARD

Council Takes Action, At Special Meeting, On Sewer Proposal

Salem city council, meeting in special session last night, passed an ordinance certifying a one mill sewer levy to the county board of elections.

The proposed levy would provide for a tax of one mill for two years, to be used in improving and extending the city's sewers.

Council also passed a resolution transferring $13,500 to the general treasury fund for the purchase of fire truck bonds. The bonds will gradually be retired as income permits.

City Engineer F. S. Barckhoff was instructed by council to construct a sewer line on Highland ave. on the east side of the street. Barckhoff had asked council to set a definite location.

ODD FELLOWS HOLD MEMORIAL SERVICE

Daughters of Rebekah and the Odd Fellows lodge held joint Memorial service following the Rebekah meeting in the hall last night. Tribute was paid to two members of the Rebekah lodge, the late Mrs. Frank Stewart and Mrs. Nettie Calladine; and to three former Odd Fellows lodge members, D. L. Augustine, Charles Renkenberger and George Robison.

During the service F. W. Davis sang "Sometime We'll Understand" (McGranahan), accompanied by Mrs. Charles Seneval.

The next Rebekah meeting will be held July 4.

Navy Will Try To Raise Sub From 440 Feet

Fears, However, Almost Impossible Task of Salvage Operations at Such Depth; No Hope for 33 On Board

By The Associated Press.

PORTSMOUTH, N. H., June 21.—A possibility that the sunken submarine O-9 and her crew of 33 dead might be left on the ocean floor, entombed under a compression of 440 feet of water that has crumbled the craft's steel shell, was sounded today by the navy's high command.

Secretary of the Navy Frank Knox, unshaven and obviously deeply concerned, told newsmen that "at that depth it is impossible for divers to conduct salvage operations so far as we now know."

"It is a terrible thing," Knox added, "but everything that can be done will be done. I will go to the scene if there is anything I can do to help."

In Washington, simultaneously, navy men said they thought an attempt would be made to salvage the 23-year-old O-9, recently recommissioned, to remove the dead, determine the cause of the tragedy and gain experience in underwater work under tremendous pressure.

Apparently the decision rested upon further explorations, as divers stood ready to descend on grappling lines which finally were attached to the submarine during the early morning hours. Weather conditions were favorable.

At the scene, large quantities of oil, pieces of cork from the O-9's inner hull and other bits of wreckage marked the submersible's grave.

All Believed Dead

That all aboard were dead, officials no longer expressed doubt. Knox said he had had "hopes" until this morning. Asked whether the navy secretary would go to the scene, Admiral John D. Wainwright said: "He's in charge of things."

The rescue ship Falcon radioed that her grapnels had found an object, apparently the O-9, which sank yesterday during a test dive, but that continued efforts to communicate with her gave "no indication of life in the submersible."

Favored by calm seas and light airs, Rear Admiral Richard Edwards, aboard the Falcon, said an attempt would be made to send a diver down with the arrival of the Chewink, a submarine tender, from New London, Conn.

Edwards reported that the Falcon had cited "large quantities of cork, oil, air and decking."

His radio message from the rescue ship to the Portsmouth navy yard said:

"Believe sub definitely located in 440 feet of water. Large quantities of cork, oil, air and decking sighted. Two grapnels attached. Will attempt send diver down when Chewink arrives with equipment about 7:30 (a. m.). Have made continuous efforts to communicate but have received no indication of life in submersible."

Divers Are Ready

Four divers were aboard the Falcon, whose position was about 18 miles off this old New England port—not far from where the submarine Squalus sank in 240 feet of water May 23, 1939, with a loss of 26 of her crew of 59 men.

Twenty-one other divers, flown here from Washington, were on shore, awaiting a call if needed. Commenting on the Falcon's find,

FOUR IN MARSHAL RACES WITHDRAW

EAST LIVERPOOL, June 21.—The Columbiana county board of elections today requested four candidates to withdraw their declarations of candidacy and petitions after Secretary of State John E. Sweeney advised "it would be useless for a candidate for village marshal to seek a nomination at the forthcoming primaries because a recently enacted law makes the office appointive."

Albert Starkey of Sallenville, R. G. Millen of Columbiana and Henry Gibson of Leetonia, Democrats, and Dalton E. Pike of Lisbon, Republican, have filed petitions for Aug. 12 primary ticket places.

Election officials said they cannot refund filing fees unless the petitions are withdrawn.

Election officials deferred payment of filing fees into the county treasury pending action of the marshal candidates.

Exclusive of fees of $25.05 paid by the marshal candidates, the board of elections collected $415.04 in fees, including $2.15 paid by candidates, for non-partisan ticket places at the Nov. 4 balloting.

Autos Collide, None Hurt

No one was injured when automobiles driven by Guilford F. McCauley, 18, of Louisville, and William Hisen, 26, Leetonia, collided on route 63 between Westville and Damascus at 12:30 a. m. according to a state highway patrol report.

WHO MAKES PRICES RISE?

Prices have been rising—perceptibly. Higher cost of living no longer is something that might happen; it is happening. And, as usually happens, the other fellow's to blame. It's easier to yell, "Who makes prices rise?" than it is to figure out what makes prices rise.

The other fellow makes prices rise. He can't do this when prices are falling, unfortunately, but when they are rising it's the other fellow's fault. So the thing to do is find the other fellow and tell him he's a louse.

He has an excuse, of course. He had to boost prices because prices were being boosted. It was costing him more to get along, so he had to obtain more income. He isn't to blame after all.

The reason it was costing him more to get along was because the same thing was happening to everybody else. They had to obtain more income, too. It goes 'round and 'round like that and comes out of the ultimate consumer's budget.

The thing that makes prices rise is the fact that prices are rising. It sounds elemental expressed that way—too elemental to make sense—but a high official in the government, Leon Henderson, federal price control administrator, told the petroleum industry to freeze gas and oil prices at their present levels in Washington, on Thursday. He explained, however, that where the companies can prove that cost increases justify price advances, exceptions will be made. That sounds elemental, too. Exceptions will be 12 cents a dozen. They used to be a dime a dozen, but the price was raised two cents.

ALWAYS A GOOD TRICK

When Germany occupied Denmark, that dairy country was stripped of its livestock. Stories of French factory machinery shipped to Germany have filtered through the censorship. Labor has been moved from Poland to work in Germany. It is the Nazi system. As described by Douglas Miller in the new Atlantic Monthly, Germany's national economy under the Nazis rests entirely on exploitation. Germany is not productive, except for implements of war, and has no intention of becoming productive as long as it can obtain the wherewithal to supply its needs by looting.

It has exploited the Jews, the Catholics, and other minorities. It has confiscated wealth, used up timber resources, repudiated debts, bled its domestic financial structure, and preyed on the economies of conquered nations. "The totalitarians," says Mr. Miller, who resigned as United States commercial attaché after 15 years in Germany, "are a group of bandits who have learned no useful trade or occupation but are well armed and have no scruples about attacking their neighbors." Consequently, he believes, nothing could be more foolish than to hope to do business with Germany; Nazi Germany cannot do business with anybody, because it is designed solely for military conquest.

Stopping a war boom short of catastrophe always has been a good trick if someone could do it. The Germans, with their famed efficiency, merely have made it tougher than ever by not planning to stop short of anything.

THE MASTER PROBABILITY

Most telling blow of the war, next to the collapse of France, was the non-aggression agreement between Germany and Russia in 1939. It was contrary to the prevailing trend of opinion. Adolf Hitler had forged his dictatorship on the anvil of opposition to Communism and fear of the Soviet Union.

Great Britain, which had hoped to use Russia as an ally in the war, despite its own shivering fear of Communism, was left out in the cold by the agreement. France, which had depended heavily on Russian distrust of Germany for its own security against the same threat, was placed in grave danger. The agreement was the master stroke of a diplomatic offensive conducted with the same shrewdness and ruthlessness that have characterized Germany's military offensive.

There are signs now, still hard to believe, that Germany and Russia have reached the parting of the ways. This is problematic, a situation that cannot be evaluated until some explosion rips away the curtain of censorship that hangs in front of all events in Berlin and Moscow. But there is a master probability to be held in mind while trying to guess the outcome.

Hitler, a military dictator, must satisfy the demands of his military organization. He must conquer and conquer and conquer. He cannot stop. He has subdued Europe, except Great Britain. In "Mein Kampf" he wrote: "We end the incessant German drive to the south and west of Europe, and turn our eyes toward the lands in the east. If we talk about new soil and territory in Europe today, we can mean primarily only Russia and its vassal border states. Providence itself seems to point the way for us. The gigantic realm of the east is ripe for collapse."

This is not a matter of ideologies. It is a matter of what German breast-beaters think of as geopolitics, the problem of developing nations by acquisition of land. Russia is rich. Russia is vulnerable to German militarism. Russia knows that German non-aggression pacts aren't worth the paper on which they are written. Russia knows that if the war turned eastward—against Russia—Britain's incentive to keep on fighting would be greatly reduced, and so would America's incentive to keep Britain fighting. The next startling development in the war might be a change of fronts. The German drive to the east—a dream of more than a generation—might happen. Until it does happen, no one can be sure it will happen. But it has been probable for more than a third of a century. In World War I, Germany was thwarted by the opposition of Great Britain and its ally, France, and finally forced to surrender by the intervention of the United States. In World War II, it is wholly within the realm of probability that Germany's militarists may feel they are justified in conquering the east, having immobilized France and penned up the British in their island.

THE STARS SAY:

For Sunday, June 22

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a fairly active one in a workaday sense, but the accent is found on the social, domestic, religious or public affairs, with the emotions under strong stimuli. The tendency to social or sentimental indulgences may spur the impulse to extravagance, excess or dangerous inflationary ideas.

Those whose birthday it is may be justified in expecting a lively and prosperous year, with much happening in the business as well as private life. In fact the social, domestic or emotional interests may be to the fore, although public relations should be successful and pleasant. Temptations to extravagance, indulgence and speculative use of funds may arise.

A child born on this day should have much efficiency, versatility and ambition and may shine in the public eye.

For Monday, June 23

Monday's astrological forecast is for a moderately active day, with social as well as business affairs fairly successful. However, there is some unique, subtle or vague situation or trend, which may prove a menace unless forcefully, directly and positively dealt with, by means of shrewd penetration and understanding of intangible circumstances.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a moderately lively year, but one fraught with peculiar or baffling situations. These subtle complications or intriguing factors may best be handled by direct, shrewd and positive action.

A child born on this day should be talented, versatile, with business, professional and social qualities for success, and yet may have conflicts in its makeup difficult to fathom. It will be popular.

TOO MANY VITAMINS, SOMETIMES

Woman Overindulges, Gets Into Difficulties

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
I found my old friend, Dr. Adrian Gibbs, putting around in his laboratory the other day in the midst of an unwholesome mess. He had installed a stove and seemed to be taking lessons in cooking, surrounded by many charts and highly interesting pictures of foodstuffs.

"I am having a very hard time," he confessed, "and I am afraid to call for help for fear public opinion will decide to ostracize me." He looked at me quizzically and then decided to go on.

"One of my patients is over-vitaminized. I have been trying to get up a diet for her that has no vitamins in it. It's an awful job. All the foods I can find have some kind of vitamins or other in them and I am having quite a tough time getting up a list that is calculated to allow her to reduce the vitamin content of her blood.

Vitamins Gave Too Much Pep

"She got infected a little while ago with the vitamin idea and she went after all the reinforced foods and vitamin-concentrated products. She required so much pep that she has had two fights with her son-in-law, and he left his wife; her husband is on a vacation of indefinite length; she started a row in the Woman's Auxiliary which resulted in the resignation of half the membership she ran her car into a tree, and in order to provide pro-vitamin A for herself, she drank so much carrot juice that she is now a bright yellow.

"Her husband and her son-in-law say they will come back if I get her down to normal, but it is going to take lots of study. Temporarily I have her on water, salt, egg white and refined sugar, but that can't go on forever, and I'm scared the sugar refiners will put vitamins in the sugar. I could have had her eat bread, but the millers and bakers have loaded that up with vitamins and I can't find any miller that is making plain flour without vitamins that I can use. You would think they would have two kinds of flour—vitaminized and plain good flour—but they do not seem to have planned for any freedom of choice.

"I went to a food show the other day and I kept saying, 'Show me some of your products that you haven't put extra vitamins in,' but they all said, 'Oh, we don't have that kind of food any more.' How did we all grow up. I wonder, in the days when we didn't have any vitamins?

"I guess the answer to that is right here in my researches, which show that if a person will eat an average diet, he can hardly help getting enough vitamins for his needs. The average American on the average diet gets plenty of vitamins for all preventive purposes."

Smooth Diet for Acid Dyspepsia and Colitis

Breakfast: Orange juice, cornflakes, creamy egg, plum jam, toast, butter, cream, weak tea or coffee.

Dinner: Pea soup, grilled tenderloin steak, mashed potatoes, creamed celery, banana blanc-mange, bread, butter, milk, weak tea or coffee.

Supper: Cream of chicken soup, creamed peas on toast, applesauce, muffins, bread, butter, milk, weak tea or coffee.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

M. W.:—"Is it possible for a nervous condition to cause a person to be short of breath? Can injections of gland medicine such as estrogen cause this breathlessness?"

Answer — There is a form of nervousness which causes a feeling that one must take a deep breath every once in a while. Real shortness of breath, however, is not caused by nervousness or any medication such as estrogen. I would suggest that the condition calls for an examination by the doctor.

D. T.:—"What causes the feet and legs to itch and burn after being in water?"

Answer — Probably too much soap and water. The skin needs oil or grease.

C. E.:—"Is there any harm in eating cloves? Do they dry up the blood?"

Answer — I know of no harm that comes from eating cloves. They are supposed to be good for indigestion.

E. D. H.:—"Are benzedrine sulfate tablets hard on the heart or the nervous system?"

Answer: Benzedrine sulfate tablets are dangerous for many reasons if taken indiscriminately. They are unnatural and have a decided effect on the heart, blood pressure and nervous system.

L. H.:—"Please give me some information about the value of steam baths at home as a means of reducing."

Answer — The value of steam baths as a means of reducing is absolutely zero.

The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

UPPER DARBY, Pa.—A double retrieving case developed when Rowdy, Mrs. Daniel K. Fairbanks' pet cocker spaniel, chased a ball into an open storm sewer and couldn't get out. Patrolman George Dougherty managed to retrieve Rowdy but he became fast in the process. It took the fire department to retrieve Dougherty.

VALIER, Mont.—The good neighbor relationship that characterized the frontier is not dead. Neighbors of Charles Geiger, who has been unable to seed his land because of illness, prepared and seeded 118 acres of Geiger's farm to mustard.

Services Are Announced For Christian Scientists

"Is the Universe, Including Man, Evolved by Atomic Force?" is the subject of the lesson sermon which will be read at the morning worship of the Christian Science society tomorrow.

The Sunday service is also broadcast over Station WCLE (610 kil.) in Cleveland on the first and third Sundays of each month at 11 a. m. Sunday school is held for pupils up to the age of 20 years at 9:30 a. m. The midweek service is held the first Wednesday each month at 8 p. m. in the church.

The Golden Text is: "The Lord is a great God, and a great King above all gods. In his hand are the deep places of the earth: the strength of the hills is his also" (Psalms 95:3,4).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good" (Genesis 1:31).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Darkness and doubt encompass thought, so long as it bases creation on materiality. From a material standpoint, Canst thou by searching find out God? All must be Mind, or else all must be matter."

The society maintains a reading room at 136 S. Broadway where the Bible and all authorized Christian Science literature may be read or borrowed. The room is open from 1:30 to 4 p. m. Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday and from 7 to 9 p. m. Saturday. A cordial invitation is extended to all, attending the services and to visit the reading room.

PORT WAYNE, Ind., "The bouncer" Ah got from the oil cabs' soured Solomon Day on gratis railroad transportation, he told the clerk at the Port Wayne transient bureau. The plump little Negro "lowed" he was too old for such hasty traveling. He told the clerk he was 97.

"Christian Home" Lutheran Sermon

"The Christian Home" is the subject of Rev. Bauman's sermon at the divine worship service Sunday at 10 a. m. in the Emmanuel American Lutheran church. The text is taken from Joshua 24:14-18.

The Sunday school with classes for all ages meets at 9 a. m. The pastor's Bible class meets at 9:15 a. m. Lee Schaefer, superintendent. "At life's end one expects a pastor to hold a whole service just for self. The same individual during life ignores hundreds of perfectly good services that others would be glad to share with him."

"The really wise man will always gladly heed the Sunday invitation: Come to church!"

False Philosophies
"The philosophies of men are on trial today. Man's theories and ideologies are exploding like bombs. The inadequacy of human wisdom is being demonstrated. Present conditions prove the Bible is true and that all who try to leave God out are wrong."

"Collapse in the material world is always preceded by collapse in the moral and spiritual realm. God's order is spiritual things first. Then material blessing follows. When material things are first and God last, depression and bankruptcy follow. 'Seek ye first the kingdom of God, and His righteousness, and all these things shall be added unto you.'"

"Skepticism and unbelief bring forth the fruit of lawlessness, revolutions, war misery and dictatorship with its accompanying slavery. The loosening of moral and spiritual foundations through application of the destructionist philosophy of Liberalism, made possible the wave of lawlessness from which the chaotic conditions of this day have originated."

Announcements
On Monday evening the Luther league will have a swimming party at Firestone park.

On Wednesday evening at 7:45 monthly meeting of the Daughters of Emmanuel. Ladies, your church needs you. Come out next Wednesday.

The choir will meet for rehearsal next Friday at 7 p. m.

Baptists to Hear Rev. S. T. Magann

English Lutheran Service Arranged

In the Sunday worship service at 11 a. m. Rev. George D. Keister, pastor, will preach to the Holy Trinity English Lutheran church on "The Unhidden Christ."

The Sunday school will meet at 9:45. The text will be Acts 15:1-35. "There is some opposition to Christ and His Gospel. It may seem as impractical in this realistic world. There are instances where credit to Christ may be denied, when the fruits of His work are faced. It is impossible to hide the greatness and the forcefulness of the Son of God. His work is so thoroughly worked into our thought and life that He has become a part of this modern generation. Christ will continue to influence people until the complete fulfillment of His Kingdom."

"Not all people have similar opinions on the same question. Some of the most sincere devout Christians may differ radically on religious questions. In essentials unity; in non-essentials liberty; and in all things charity. We must learn to respect the sincere convictions of those who may not accept the same opinions that we do. Differences may be settled through the method of conference. The sword is now being used to settle present problems. The method of conference would do much better. That is the way that the early Church faced its differences."

Announcements
Lydia Bible class meets at 8 p. m. Monday at the church. Hostesses: Mesdames E. A. Hoch, Harry Izenour, and Ralph Warner; leader, Mrs. G. D. Keister; topic: "Boys and Girls of the Bible."

Miss Wafler Is Bride Of R. J. Klyne

The marriage of Miss Marie Elizabeth Wafler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Wafler of Home-worth, to Richard James Klyne, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Klyne of Euclid st., was solemnized at 10:30 this morning in the Klyne home.

The double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. H. C. Wilson of Youngstown. Vows were exchanged before a fireplace altar of roses and summer flowers.

Preceding the ceremony, Donald Wafler, brother of the bride, sang
"Ah, Sweet Mystery of Life"; "Because"; and "I Love You Truly".
Miss Margaret Klyne of Dover, a cousin of the groom, played the organ accompaniment and played "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin".

The bride wore a gown of white satin, fashioned with long-sleeved jacket, short train and cut-away skirt. The gown had a light blue net panel under the front skirt.
The jacket had a sweetheart neckline and fitted sleeves ending in points over the wrists. Her lace-edged fingertip veil of silk tulle was arranged in a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of white roses, snapdragons and blue delphinium.

Mrs. Ear Phillips of Minerva, as her sister's maid of honor, wore a pink sheer gown and carried yellow roses and pink snapdragons. Miss Dorothy Klyne of Cleveland, sister of the groom, was bridesmaid, wearing a turquoise sheer frock.
She carried pink roses and snapdragons.

James Klyne of Dover, cousin of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served to 30 guests. A tiered wedding cake topped with miniature bride and groom, formed a centerpiece for the brides table.

On their return from a short trip in the east, Mr. and Mrs.
Klyne will reside with the brides parents. For traveling, Mrs. Klyne wore a beige and lime green ensemble, with white and British tad accessories.

Mr. Klyne is employed by the Edison company here.

Out-of-town guests were from Cleveland, Dover, Minerva, Alliance, Berlin Center and New Franklin.

Mrs. Hugh McCready Is Honored

Mrs. Hugh J. McCready, the former Miss Dorothy Arthur, was honored Thursday night at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs.
C. LaVerne Miner at her home on the Damascus rd.

The evening was spent informally with games. Prizes were won by Mrs. P. P. Trubey of Canton, Mrs.
M. A. and Mrs. Don Roessler.

A silk lace cloth and a center arrangement of individual plants around a large springing can decorated the table at which a buffet lunch was served. The tiny plants were favors for the guests. The home was decorated throughout with roses.

Mrs. McCready was presented a number of gifts.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs.
Gerald Frame, of Warren; Miss Charlotte Spiller of Lisbon; Mrs.
James Wilson of Beloit; Mrs. P. P.
Trubey and Mrs. A. E. Schreckengost of Canton.

Lydia Bible Class Has Program

"Boys and Girls of the Bible" was the topic for discussion at a meeting of the Lydia Bible class in Trinity Lutheran church recently.

Mrs. Daryl Everett was leader of the study topic. Scripture lesson was "Light for Today".

Mrs. E. A. Hoch, Mrs. Harry Lee-mour and Mrs. Ralph Warner were hostesses.

W. R. C. to Meet

Trescott Women's Relief Corps
No. 34 will meet Tuesday afternoon following a covered dinner at noon in the K. of P. hall. The dinner will honor members whose birthdays are in the last three months.

BIG FORD PLANTS SIGN WITH UNION

(By Associated Press)

Wage increases for some of the 120,000 workers of the Ford motor plants were indicated today as employees made ready to attend a Sunday mass meeting in Detroit to ratify a contract providing a CIO union shop and the dues checkoff for the first time in the automobile industry.

The United Auto Workers looked for detailed negotiations on wages to begin next week. The terms of the contract signed in Washington yesterday provided that any increases are to be retroactive to the date of the signing.

The workers themselves meet tomorrow to act on the Ford-CIO agreement, which calls in general for wage rates equal at least to the highest paid by other motor firms as well as those making steel, rubber, glass and cement.

The pact makes the CIO spokesman for all Ford workers except supervisors, and provides time and double time for Sunday's and holidays. R. J. Thomas, UAW president, described it as a pattern which he believed would be universally adopted before another year.

"THE GORGON'S MASK"

by Van Wyck Mason

CHAPTER SIXTEEN

After a glance at the still unconscious Josef, North swiftly collected the documents and other papers.

Nadia observed in faint sarcasm:
"Mon Dieu, you're not going to take Josef along for a chaperon? What will people say?"

The intelligence captain responded in kind: "With the lioness safely caged, who fears the jackal?
And now.... Get on a coat," he directed gruffly, "and let's be going."

"To where?" she demanded demurringly. "Shall I take only a nightgown, or shall I pack a bag?"

"You'll come just as you are," He recovered his own 32 from the closet floor and substituted its compact efficiency for Josef's badly balanced slithered revolver. With his left hand he rolled the sheaf of documents into a tight cylinder and thrust them into his inner coat pocket.

For all her icy composure there was, he realized, a distinctly dangerous glint back of Nadia's eyes... eyes which he could not yet trust himself to face for long.

"May I have the honor?" he invited gallantly, and with firm
Central Office grip he took Nadia Stefan by the elbow and conducted her down into the little court. Then, in the shadows of the doorway, he studied the area all of two minutes, noting nothing save a Japanese sampler man snoring on a doorstep.

Much of the quarter's activity had subsided; cats were bolder, more in evidence, and from some distant steeples the slow, resonant strokes of a clock marked the hour of one as the pair emerged from the courtyard.

Yielding to the situation with apparent grace, Nadia Stefan strode at his side, apparently lost in thought. It was not until they sank onto the lumpy upholstery of the cab which he presently hailed, that she said with puzzled air, "Really you are the most extraordinary American I have ever met."

"Old stuff!" he grunted ungraciously.
"I suppose Cross and Clark believed that? Well, I don't!"

Silence ensued while the taxi sped smoothly along towards Fort Shafter. Then to his amazement she suddenly broke into a liting laugh.

"Monsieur, now I know you are afraid of me."

"Right — afraid and suspicious," he admitted. "But really it's you who are extraordinary. I've been wondering — He broke off abruptly for the taxi's brakes had been jammed with an ear-torturing screach. North instinctively thought of a prelude to a bad smash-up."

"What in—"

On peering outside, North realized that the black and lightless outlines of not one but three taxicabs were hemming in his.

"Quiet, please!" Almost at once there appeared in the cab's window a face swathed in a black scarf pierced with two very ragged eye-holes.

"Messir Nevins, please step out?"

North's hopes dropped on recognizing the precise, sibilant accents he had learned to associate with Hideo Kanamura. Facing an automatic of large caliber, North stepped out onto the moonlit road.
Promptly one of the blocking cars slid aside, and to North's horror his cab was signaled ahead.

"Wait!" he cried sharply to Kanamura. "Please don't let that cab go."

"Be quiet!" An arm, unyielding as a steel cable, slid about North's throat, and he was jerked violently backwards. Then another hand caught him a shrewd clip on the side of the neck. Amid the greatest blaze of lights he had seen since Saint Mihiel he collapsed among a clump of hibiscus bushes.

That he could not have remained unconscious long, Captain North realized as he glimpsed the tail lights of the three taxicabs go whirling off into the luminous Hawaiian night. Uncertainly he groped for his inner pocket.

As he fully expected, the papers ably things were so arranged that her organization could and would function without her. At large, she might be made to reveal something useful.

North made a wry face as he recalled Baron von Rentner's stiff-backed figure bending over the nude corpse on Polk's float. It stood to reason Polk must know a lot about this Transpacific affair—does it mean he's in on this present war crisis? Else why would Kanamura, Phedre, Von Rentner, and the rest be there at his house?

Kanamura. Yes—this was at least a three-cornered problem: Russia, Japan, and America. It had been Kanamura who had appeared at the morgue, and Kanamura, also, who had snatched from his hands a hard-won victory over the lovely and inscrutable Nadia Stefan.

North flushed a little at the thought of her.... There was certainly something uncannily haunting about the Russian girl.... Well, he wasn't another Wilson Clark—not by a long shot.

The deeply troubled intelligence captain continued to ponder on Nadia Stefan.... Why had she been sent to Hawaii? Because it stood to reason that Russia would be interested in a war between Japan and the United States. But just what part in the Honolulu drama did Nadia plan for her country?

He was annoyed to realize how keen was a yearning to see the girl again....

HIS LAWYER--Your Friend!

Business matters that seem very complex to you and me can be made very simple and understandable by a lawyer. Men, unfortunately, do not always confide in their wives regarding business matters, and in such cases the counsel of an attorney is invaluable.

Others will help in every possible way. Your minister, insurance men, business associates, the officers of his bank, the funeral director called—all will do everything within their power to help ease the burden.

Women frequently tell me that the funeral director aided them amazingly in contacting lodges, arranging details of military services, in securing the Government's benefits provided for veterans. The Stark Memorial offers numerous helpful services which women particularly will find invaluable.

Yankees Hit Stride, Crush Tigers 14-4 To Win 10 Out Of 12

OVERSHADOWED BY PAST GREATNESS, TEAM NOT PRAISED

Super-Teams of Past De-tract from Superior Quality of Present Club

BY JUDSON BAILEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

If the New York Yankees never had their super-teams of super-stars — Ruth, Gehrig, Gomez, Lazzeri and the rest—this year's club might be called great.

Fans often get excited over teams nowhere near as powerful as the present Yankees, who are handicapped in gaining recognition because the memory of exploits of their marvelous predecessors lingers.

Yet the way the bombers are blasting in the American league right now, there is a possibility they will become another scourge.

The Yankees are in second place, to be sure, but they have beaten the pacesetter Cleveland Indians seven times in 10 games and didn't really get rolling until recently.

Have Won 10 of 12

They have won 10 of their past 12 games and looked impressive in doing it. They have had fine pitching and amazing hitting. In 16 consecutive games they have walloped 27 home runs. Joe DiMaggio has hit safely in 32 straight contests, matching the great streak of Rogers Hornsby in 1922 in the National league, and just eight short of the mark George Sisler set that same season in the American league.

The Yankees crushed the Detroit Tigers yesterday, 14-4. They amassed 17 hits for 29 bases. Every man made a hit, every player scored at least one run, and all but one player drove in at least a run. DiMaggio collected four hits.

Sensors Take Tribe

Cleveland was beaten, 7-6, by the lowly Washington Senators in a loose game that included 30 hits and three errors. The Boston Red Sox, outfit for once, managed to beat the St. Louis Browns, 4-2, in the only other American league game.

The Brooklyn Dodgers improved their position in the National league by clipping the Cincinnati Reds, 6-2, behind the three-hit pitching of chubby Hugh Casey.

The New York Giants scored five runs in the eighth inning of a night game at St. Louis to beat the Cardinals, 6-2, and cut their first-place margin to two games. Lefty Larry French pitched fourth ball to bring the Chicago Cubs a 5-0 shutout over the Boston Braves.

The Philadelphia Phillies, who lost a big lead and their ball game to the Cardinals Thursday, repeated the same trick against the Pittsburgh Pirates yesterday and lost 7-6.

HOGAN, DEMARET PACE INVERNESS

Partners Win 2 Yesterday, But Face Nelson and Thompson Today

(By Associated Press)

TOLEDO, June 21 — Leaders in the seventh annual $7,000 Inverness four-ball matches faced crucial tests in today's pair of 18-hole rounds, the slate calling for the three top-berth duos to battle each other.

The schedule promised to scramble the standings, should the leaders hold each other in check, for under the Inverness round-robin scoring plan any of the lower position twosomes might take over the pace-setting role.

Ben Hogan, the year's No. 1 money winner and leader for the Vardon trophy, and partner Jimmy Demaret won two matches yesterday to go out front with a plus five rating, but they were to face Byron Nelson, P.G.A. title-holder, and long-driving Jimmy Thomson in today's first round.

Each Hole Counts

Nelson and Thomson are in second place with a plus four rating, one count off the pace. The afternoon slate calls for Nelson and Thomson to battle Henry Picard and Johnny Revolta, only two-time winners of the classic, who climbed from last to third place with twin wins yesterday.

While the leaders are tearing each other apart, the others have a chance to gain ground, for each hole counts a point, no matter what caliber of opposition it is scored against.

Salem Angler Hooks Big Tarpon

SANITARY, SWOC ARE WINNERS IN CITY LOOP GAMES

Trinitys Score Impressive Win Over Christians To Win Round

The Sanitary pounded out 11 hits last night to snare a 7-6 win from the Saxons. Heavy hitters for the winners were Catlos, with two doubles in three trips to the plate, Snyder with one triple and a single and Smith who whipped out a homer over the empty bases in the fourth inning. Ritchie, hurrying for the Sanitary, gave up six hits.

The SWOC nosed out the Trades Class 4-3, after a three-run second inning put the Traders out front early. The SWOC came back with one run in the third and three in the fifth to get in front by one and stay there. Each of the teams chalked up four errors in the contest. Wright gave out only four safe hits.

In the only game played in the church league the Trinitys emphatically showed their right to be Class B champs—they downed the Christians in a championship battle 14-0.

Poloists Will Face Alliance Team Here

Salem polo club riders have undergone a week of extensive drilling in preparation for their keenest competition of the year—Alliance. Possessed of a "psychological edge" that the Salem poloists have seldom been able to break, the Alliance riders have in addition one of the finest teams in the Penn-Ohio league.

Expected to see action this week for the visitors are Owen Lewis, his two sons Merrick and Bill, Stahley, Fryan, and Murphy. Lewis' two boys are the only newcomers to a veteran line-up.

Riding for Salem in tomorrow's game at Coy field will be Moff, Sheen, Votaw, Smith, and Pidgeon. They will attempt to stretch their winning streak to four games. The Alliance club has won two and lost one in their three starts this year.

Arrangements have been made by the Salem club to provide fans with last minute information on conditions at the field in event of rain prior to game time. If things look threatening or rainy, fans are advised to call 3621 and obtain definite information as to whether the game will or will not be played. Wade Loop, club manager, announced today.

Trinitys Score Impressive Win Over Christians To Win Round

The Sanitary pounded out 11 hits last night to snare a 7-6 win from the Saxons. Heavy hitters for the winners were Catlos, with two doubles in three trips to the plate, Snyder with one triple and a single and Smith who whipped out a homer over the empty bases in the fourth inning. Ritchie, hurrying for the Sanitary, gave up six hits.

The SWOC nosed out the Trades Class 4-3, after a three-run second inning put the Traders out front early. The SWOC came back with one run in the third and three in the fifth to get in front by one and stay there. Each of the teams chalked up four errors in the contest. Wright gave out only four safe hits.

In the only game played in the church league the Trinitys emphatically showed their right to be Class B champs—they downed the Christians in a championship battle 14-0.

TRIBE CONSOLID BY GOOD HITTING

Collect 16 Hits, Though Losing To Nats By 7-6 Margin

WASHINGTON, June 21 — The Indians found some consolation today in the way their recently restored batting strength is sticking with them—even if it doesn't always count.

The Tribe collected 16 hits off three pitchers in the opener of a three-game series with the Washington Senators, who used their 14 safe blows to good advantage in winning 7 to 6.

It was the third consecutive day that Cleveland made more than 15 hits, but the long ones preceded the short ones, and to make matters worse the relief pitching collapsed.

Their league leadership over New York's Yankees cut to two games by the loss, the Indians nominated Southpaw Al Milnar, winner of six, to put them back in the victory column. Washington also chose a left-hand pitcher—Ken Chase.

Three Doubles And a Single

Jeff Heath continued his "big stick" work with three doubles and a single to pace Cleveland's attack yesterday. Gee Walker contributed three singles and Clarence Campbell two.

Ken Keltner belted his 12th home run of the season into the left center bleachers in the first inning for the Tribe's first score. Making his first appearance in a game since he was beaten by Chase ten days ago, Sox Weath-erly batted for Smith in the eighth and doubled against the right field wall. He is expected to return to the line-up Sunday.

Breezy Briefs Of Sport From Brietz To You

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, Jr.
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)
NEW YORK, June 21.—(The Special News Service)—Cauliflower au gratin—or using up the remains: The fight pictures show that Louis hit Conn 24 times during the half-minute flurry of punches that polished off Billy, who was it said the Bomber had slowed up? . . . Nevertheless there's proof that Joe ain't what he used to be in the number of guys arguing about who's going to fight him next. . . . A year ago nobody wanted the job. . . . Sports writers hereabouts were unanimous in praising the champion's sportsmanship in not letting go the punch he had all ready when Conn slipped during one of the early rounds, but nobody was surprised. . . . That's the kind of a fellow Joe is; he wants to win fairly.

Today's Guest Star
Dani Desmond, Sioux City (Ia.) Journal: "Billy Conn's 13th-round exchange with Louis was the most disastrous, most costly trade since the Cubs dealt with the Cardinals for Dizzy Dean."

Headline of the Week
From the Detroit Free Press: "Conn seeks daughter's hand, but papa puts foot down."

Touching All Bases
Have you noticed that the Yanks' Charley Keller, who is hitting only about .265, is leading the league in runs batted in and is near the top in homers. . . . He's switching his style to aim for the rightfield bleachers so that what hits he gets count. . . . It took Babe Dahlgren less than a week to become a hero with Chicago fans, who look on his fancy fielding with amazement after the kind they got used to seeing during Zeke Bonura's heyday. . . . Hank Greenberg will return to Briggs stadium for a day if he's willing to play with the Fort Custer team on the amateur day program, July 27. Post officers already have said they're willing.

BROCKTON, Mass.—William J. Marshall, former shoe factory engineer, was a soldier in the Spanish-American war, lieutenant-commander in the navy during the World war, and now, at 69, is serving as a lieutenant-commander in the British navy.

Vernon Lefty McGooferly Gomez, veteran New York Yankee pitcher, may don spectacles soon. Oculists recently examined Gomez and told him his wildness on the mound may be due to faulty vision.

established a strong position half-way between Damascus and Kessouh to the south and that invaders had been driven completely out of the Mezzeh airbase area, 3 1/2 miles southwest of the capital. The British acknowledged that their position there was uncertain. Syrian authorities, it was reported, sent a protest via Baghdad against the bombardment of Damascus, asking the pro-British Iraq government to inform the British that the shelling of Damascus—on of the Moslem holy cities because of its more than 200 mosques—would have an adverse effect on Arab opinion.

For days the British and Free French had withheld their cannon fire from Damascus, hoping that Vichy would surrender the unfortified capital as an open city. From the stubborn defense it seemed that the capture of Damascus—when and if—might signal the collapse of all French resistance in Syria and Lebanon.

NAVY TO ATTEMPT TO BRING UP SUB

Fears, However, That Task Will Be Impossible From 440 Feet

Lieutenant Commander Edmund Jewell, ashore, said there was "a good chance that it's the submarine."

The contact was made a little outside—about two-tenths of a mile—the "swept" area, which is cleared for submarine dives, but he explained that this region "probably would be swept too," adding:

"It's like when you mow your lawn; you oversweep somewhat." Jewell asserted that if divers went down and landed on the "wrong" part of the submarine, they might not be able to determine whether anyone still was alive. Signals, however, probably would be successful from most sections of the craft.

Sufficient helium to supply divers for two days' operations was on hand, and more was on the way.

As the search swung into its second day, the navy made clear that it was simply on "hope" that it based its official view that "some might be alive."

"Not Optimistic"

President Roosevelt, who kept in personal touch with the navy department in Washington during the night, was told that the navy "was not optimistic" about the situation.

The 172 foot 0-9—victim in New England's fourth submarine disaster—went into its ill-fated deep trial dive at 7:56 o'clock (EST) yesterday morning—and the search got under way two hours later when a smoke bomb distress signal came to the surface.

DEATHS

MRS. ELIZABETH CLARK

Mrs. Elizabeth Williams Clark, 69, died at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Robert T. Wilson, 193 Park ave., at 1:40 a. m. today. Mrs. Clark, the widow of James Clark, who died 25 years ago, had been an invalid for 28 years.

The daughter of Sabbath and Martha Williams, she was born in Pittston, Pa., April 2, 1872. Mrs. Clark, the last of her immediate family, had lived in Salem 13 years, coming here from Youngstown.

Funeral service will be held at 8 p. m. Sunday at the Arbaugh-Pearce funeral home in charge of Rev. R. D. Walter. Final rites and burial will be in Pittston, Pa., Monday afternoon.

W. BYRON M. LAUGHLIN

WELLSVILLE, June 22.—Funeral services will be held here at 2:30 p. m. Sunday for W. Byron McLaughlin, 44, pharmacist and son of Charles A. McLaughlin, a deputy in the Columbiana county auditor's office. He died Thursday. He leaves his widow and a daughter.

Young Riders Head West from Wooster

Cantering along in fine style and keeping right on schedule, Ted Lawton of Canfield and Ken "Half Pint" Taylor of Salem, each 13 years old, were today heading west from Wooster for the "great open spaces."

Added to the writing of penny post cards, the boys keep the Salem News informed of every mile of progress.

Here's the latest card, verbatim:

Dear Folks: "We arrived at Wooster at 7:30 o'clock P. M. (From Canton in the morning) We took it pretty easy all the way.

"We met the sheriff of Wayne County, Ed Mills. He helped us all the way to Wooster. He is quite a horseman.

"We met some very nice people who rode out to see us, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Slaybaugh from the Wayne Country Saddle club.

"We met Mayor Fisher and Justice of the Peace Andy Smith and Chief of Police Yost. "They certainly treat us nice. So Long, "Ted, Ken."

Theatre Attractions

Linda Darnell, Tyrone Power and Rita Hayworth in a scene from "Blood and Sand" at the State Sunday through Tuesday.

The story which made the late Rudolph Valentino the idol of millions is brought to the screen again in the technicolor, "Blood and Sand", showing at the State Sunday through Tuesday.

Tyrone Power has the role of Juan, ragged urchin who becomes Spain's matador hero in Vicente Blasco Ibanez' novel. Linda Darnell and Rita Hayworth are seen as the two women who dominate the life of Spain's most famous bullfighter. Nazimova, one of the greatest actresses of the stage, plays the part of his mother.

Others in the cast are Anthony Quinn, J. Carrol Naish, John Carradine, Lynn Bari, Laird Cregar, Vicente Gomez, William Montague and George Reeves.

Wednesday Only

At the State Wednesday only is "Power Dive", the story of two young fliers who try to prove the worth of a revolutionary type of plane to the U. S. army. Richard Arlen, Jean Parker, Roger Pryor, Helen Mack, Cliff Edwards, Don Castle, Billy Lee and Louis Jean Heydt are in the cast.

The State's Thursday, Friday and Saturday attraction will be "A Woman's Pace", starring Joan Crawford and Melvyn Douglas, with Conrad Veidt, Osa Massen, Reginald Owen, Albert Basserman, Marjorie Main and Donald Meek.

Concluding at the State tonight is the musical comedy, "Pot o' Gold", featuring James Stewart, Paulette Goddard, Horace Heidt and his orchestra.

The Grand's Sunday double feature will be: "Her First Beau" with Jane Withers, Jackie Cooper, Edith Fellows, Josephine Hutchinson, William Tracy, Martha O'Driscoll and Edgar Buchanan; and "I'll Wait for You," featuring Robert Sterling, Marsha Hunt, Paul Kelly, Fay Holden, Virginia Weidler and Henry Travers.
